LIBERAL TACTICS. Nobody will be deceived by the Liberal boasts of majorities. The party is a party of bluster and braggadocio. There was never an election in which it took part when it did not claim two or three times as manyavotes as it was able to east. The Junction, Soldier Summit and the Colorad other night one of the speakers made the line for voters; but there is another elestatement that the Liberals bad nearly 2,000 more votes than the People could mus. priating the time and the streets, the in ter, and, it is said, offered to wager that the Liberals could discount their vote 1,200 and the parties, as it is ridiculous to suppose then beat the People 400. People who talk that the People will submit to the outrage this way are either fools or take their hear ers to be idiots. The registration list tells how many possible voters there are in the city. In saying this we assume that the registration officers and the Liberal managers have gotten through "monkey ing" with the list, or that they will at least place no more names on it. Indeed, since the construction camps, the coalimines and section house of the Rio Grande Western have been ransacked from one end to the other, and hotel registers have been pretty carefully copied, it is difficult to understand how the lists can be materially increased without a resort to the grave yards. It is true, some high-handed proceedings are going on just now. Scores and hundreds of men are being cited to show cause why their town another of these disastrous backsets should not be stricken from the list. How many of these will be suffered. Al the contest taken off cannot be told, but as very nearly all of those cited bave established the legality of their registration and their right to to parade with shot guns and clubs as som vo c, it is assumed that the partisanship of of the Liberals are already doing. Besides this there is a design to make a Republican territory out of Utah, when it might be transformed into a state and it might be transformed into a state and some of the conspirators be rewarded with federal and state offices, while the balance became wealthy out of real estate operations. We have no doubt but that this is the programme of the Salt Lake city ring; if it is not, their acts go for nothing and are developed without an object. To bring this desired state of affairs about it would be necessary to rid the Utah commission of any member who was not in the scheme and therefore the conspirators have been very anxious.

DOINGS OF ROYALTY.

The heir apparent of the Japanese emthe conspirators have been very anxious that General McClernand, a distinguished union soldier in the war, be dismissed and ex-Governor Caleb West, a confederate guerilla, appointed in his place. The conspirators promptly as improved the conspirators promptly as improved the constitution of the constituti spirators brought an immense pressure to bear upon President Harrison to dismiss General McClernand, but a petition signed by every member of the Illinois legislature, by every member of the Illinois legislature, irrespective of party, came to his aid. Besides this, Senators Cullom and Farwell, of Illinois, and Senator Teller, of Colorado, called upon the President to protest against the removal, and Representative Springer left at the White House another petition signed by the entire Illinois delegation praying that the general be left undisturbed. More than this, the eastern press, particularly in New York, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis, have had considerable to say regarding the matter. Their dispatches and editorials have all been very friendly to the old veteran and these, too, have been laid by the latter's friends before General Harrison. The President, in view of these Harrison. The President, in view of the influences, found himself in an embarras-sing position, and from his recent utter-ances upon the subject the deduction is drawn that General McClernand will in the future be let severely alone. Col. Parker and wife, Lieutenant and Mrs. Johnstone, and Lieutenant Wright and family are expected to return this week from visits in the east.
